

Because a rook attacks only horizontally or vertically, the rows and columns are independent.