

To place the trap in a given connected component, we follow the output edges.